Glitch Busters

The Prez Sez

Another uneventful month has passed. The weather has been both wonderful and terrible but I hope you made use of the good days so far and used the bad ones to get ready for spring.

Next Club Meeting:
Tuesday
March 3, 2009

@

William Penn High
School - Cafeteria 2

Next Club Event:
Show & Tell - Newark
Senior Center
April 20, 2009

Several of us went to what is rumored to be the next to the last WRAM Show, which was most notable for who didn't show than any innovations. Hitec (who were expected to be the first to have spread spectrum equipment) have finally come out with a Spectra module and some dedicated transmitters on 2.4 GHz. They are of course, not compatible with any other systems than their own. That includes the recently announced Multiplex spread spectrum system.

Greg, Tim and I rented a stump grinder and got rid of the big stump in the parking area.

The insurance policy has been received and covers loss and damage with a $500.00 deductible, which I propose we set aside for the event that we need to exercise the policy.

Bliss Teague and AMA President Dave Mathewson are coming to Warbirds. Executive Director Jim Cherry may also come.

Hang on guys, spring is just around the corner.

WRAM Show photos

The annual WRAM Show took place this past weekend in New York. John has posted some pictures from the event on his website. You can access these photos by browsing to: <http://kirchstein.net/WRAM09/>

I believe they have one more year that they are committed to and that's the end of an era.

Learn about Radio Controlled Flight

Members of the Delaware RC Club will exhibit the variety of ways to enjoy the hobby. Hands-on demonstrations will include flight simulators and micro aircraft. You will learn the requirements for electric / fuel powered airplanes and helicopters, as well as sailplanes. Suggested starting points for getting into the hobby and local clubs and flying sites will be reviewed. Membership requirements for local clubs will be discussed along with the benefits of membership in the Academy of Model Aeronautics. Date of program will be Monday, April 20 @ 1:00pm at the Newark Senior Center.
